

I Purr Like a Kitten

I purr like a kitten when you show your face,
When you show your face like a god.
I curl up contentedly in your embrace,
With your hands roaming over my bod.
I purr cause I'm feeling so good,
It seems only fittin' I should.

Sometimes I play at your feet like a pup
And proudly leap up when you call.
If you like, I'll roll over and jump through a hoop
And I won't be embarrassed at all.
I play like a puppy, Bow wow!
Please take me home with you now.

According to all the advice that I hear,
It's not good to let down your guard.
But whoever said that never felt you come near,
Or they'd know that it's awfully hard.
I melt like a snowman in May.
You snow me and blow me away.

I purr like a kitten the whole time you're there.
You make me so happy and calm
That I purr while I fervently utter a prayer,
That our love may keep purring along.
I purr like a kitten.
I purr like a kitten, I do.
I purr like a kitten
Cause I'm totally smitten with you.
